“ Angie was my cousin. We spent summers together and family reunions together until our preteen/teen years. And then like most extended families...the get-togethers stop due to everyone's schedules, relocating, and our own interests (boys & social life) take over. We traded prom and homecoming dresses thru high school and touched base again when Angie got married. With families of our own, we only recently got in touch mostly thru Facebook "liking" pictures and sending short messages back and forth like cousins do. I didn't know adult Angie as well as I did kid Angie but I imagine she was much the same. Confident, loving, and full of light. I pray that Angie's family can find comfort in God's love; know that she is not lost but only sent before us to Heaven. I am grateful for my memories of Ang...all good ones. I'll be seeing you, cousin.

“ As I am driving to say my last goodbye to Mrs. Angela i am lost for words on how much of an impact she has been in my life. I always say we are here left with unanswered questions and lost for words on certain situations. I love you Mrs. Angela, until we meet again.

“ Mrs Angela was my counselor at pathway of hope. She gave me a lot of courage and strength to continue going forward with my life when i wanted to give up. She was compassionate and caring and always would make time for me when i really needed her, she was like a second mother to me in all actuality. She was beautiful on the inside and out. Her mind,soul,and spirit was from God himself. She helped many even when u could tell she was having a ruff day she still willingly and lovingly take time to help another. She will be missed dearly. I know God has many blessings for her in heaven and appreciates the work she has done on earth she has fulfilled her duty God had for her. Amen you will forever be loved and appreciated
